

Adviser Profile

Chris Wyeth

BA, LLB, MTax, DFP, FTIA

Senior Financial Consultant

Representative of Tynan Mackenzie Pty Ltd

Chris is widely known as a tax and superannuation adviser.

Chris believes that the better clients understand their position, the better choices they will make. Using modeling and coaching, his aim is to help clients reach their lifestyle goals as simply and safely as possible.

Drawing on a background in economics, tax and law, he regularly advises in some of the most technical aspects of financial planning including:

- planning for business owners and business sales
- self-managed superannuation
- advice for expatriates and
- investment management for trusts and estates.

Invitations to speak at technical forums keep him at the cutting edge of financial planning strategy. He has presented professional education for the Queensland Law Society, the Bar Association, the Television Education Network and the Tax Institute and guest lectured for the University of Queensland. He is a contributing author in both tax commentary and professional journals.

Chris holds a Bachelor of Arts (majoring in Economics), Bachelor of Laws and a Master of Taxation from the University of Queensland and the Diploma of Financial Planning. He is a Fellow of the Taxation Institute and a member of their Queensland Education Committee. He was admitted as a solicitor in 1991 and is also a registered tax agent.

Outside the office, you will find him teaching taekwondo at the University of Queensland or riding the hills of Brisbane.
